Saint Sophia Cathedral

Mystery and Invitation

“Come and see.” (John 1:46)

† BUT TO THOSE WHO ARE CALLED BOTH JEWS AND GREEKS WE PREACH CHRIST THE POWER AND WISDOM OF GOD †

Hagia Sophia

The Holy Wisdom of God

1 Corinthians 1:23-24

The End of Iconoclasm

Affirmation of Orthodox Faith, Synod of Constantinople, March 11, 843 AD

As the Prophets beheld, —as the Apostles have taught, —as the Church has received; —as the Teachers have dogmatized; —as the Universe has agreed; —as Grace has shown forth, —as Truth has revealed; —as Falsehood has been dissolved; —as Wisdom has been presented; as Christ has awarded!

Thus, we declare! —thus we assert —thus we preach Christ our true God: In words, in writings, In thoughts, In sacrifices, In churches, In holy icons, —thus we honor His Saints: worshipping and reverencing Christ as God and Lord —and honoring His Saints as true servants of the same Lord of all —and accordingly offering them veneration.

This is the Faith of the Apostles, —this is the Faith of the Fathers, —this is the Faith of the Orthodox, —this is the Faith which has established the Ecumene.

Hagia Sophia: Heaven or Earth?

Envoys to Prince Vladimir of Kiev, 987 AD

“We knew not whether we were in heaven or earth, for surely there IS not such splendor or beauty upon earth. We cannot describe it to you; only this we know, that ...

God dwells there among men ...

In 988 A.D., Vladimir converted his people to Orthodoxy.
